STILL INTERESTED IN FESTIVAL

During the second day's session of the Crown's Nest Pass Musical Festival, the following letter from Rev. W. T. Young, of Edmonton, founder of the festival idea here, was read out:

"7722 - 99th St., Edmonton, Alberta, Nov. 1, 1937.

Dear Mrs. Farmer:

We received the Festival programme this morning and have been greatly interested in looking it over. Our thoughts have been in Blaimore all day, and we wish for you this year the most successful event, if it is possible to have one more so than those of the last few years.

It seems to me that at such a time as this in our history nothing could make a finer contribution to the mind of people than such work as the Festival encourages, when there is so much bitterness and misunderstanding in many places leading to war and preparation for it, every cause that tends to create harmony and lifts the mind to higher levels of thought, such as music does, is a valuable public as well as individual service.

Heartly congratulations to the committee on its plans and programme, and my personal best wishes to each teacher and contestant.

Kind regards to all my friends in Blaimore, in which Mrs. Young joins me.

Sincerely yours,
W. T. Young."

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE AT UNITED CHURCH

An anniversary service will be observed at the Central United Church on Sunday evening next, at 7.30, when Rev. Robert Magowan, B.A., of Pincher Creek, will be the guest preacher.

Special music will be featured, with the girls' choir, under Miss Lena Fraser; orchestra, led by Mr. Ed. Royle; Mr. A. B. McMurdo and Miss Marion Allison, both of Pincher Creek, with solos, taking part.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present and partake of this hour of special fellowship.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

"Remembrance Day," Thursday, November 11, was fittingly observed in Blaimore.

Under the auspices of the Crown's Nest Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and the Blaimore Branch of the Canadian Legion, the usual service was conducted, starting at 10.50 a.m. in the Orpheum Theatre, kindly loaned for the purpose by Mr. Rinaldi.

The service programme was in charge of Capt. J. Angus MacDonald. Rev. J. W. MacDonald pronounced the invocation, read the scripture lesson and offered the memorial prayer. The chief speaker was Mr. John Shevils, of Bellevue. Others included Mr. J. H. Farmer. The "Roll Call" was made by Comrades J. A. Rudd and W. J. Fisher. Miss Jean Upton acted as piano accompanist.

Following the service, a procession headed by the veterans and members of the I.O.D.E. marched to the Catholic and Protestant cemeteries, where suitable mementos were placed upon soldiers' graves.

At night, a grand Armistice ball was held in the Columbus hall, and as in former years proved to be the largest attended and the most enjoyable event of the season.

The annual St. Anne's bazaar takes place in the Columbus hall next Wednesday, November 17th, from 3 to 6, with evening attractions from 8 to 12. Hand-embroidered goods, cut work, Christmas novelties, fish pond and tea will be afternoon features, with bingo for the evening, winding up with the tombola, comforter and miniature checkerfield drawings. Prizes are displayed in the Blaimore Hardware window.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT GREENHILL MINE

Frederick William, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, was victim of an accident while following his occupation as a miner in the Greenhill mine of the West Canadian Collieries Limited at about 11.15 a.m. on Friday last, when he was hit by a fall of coal, dying practically instantly. Help arrived immediately and he was rushed to the surface, where upon examination life was found to be extinct. The remains were removed to the parlors of the Crown's Nest Undertaking Co., where they were viewed by Coroner F. J. Turner and the jury impaneled for the inquest.

Funeral took place from the Undertaking parlors on Sunday afternoon, proceeding to the United Church, where an impressive service was conducted by Rev. A. E. Larke. Hundreds failed to gain entrance to the church. Following the service, the funeral cortege wended its way via Victoria Street and Fifth Avenue to the Union cemetery, where interment took place following last rites of the church by Rev. A. E. Larke, and of the U.M.W. of A. by Mr. Enoch Williams. The funeral procession was made up of upwards of eighty cars and 210 adults on foot.

"Fred," as he was popularly known, was born at Langley Moor, Durham County, England, on November the 4th, 1906, and therefore came to his death the day after his thirty-first birthday. When but five months old, he came to Canada with his parents, locating at Frank, Alberta. The family moved to Blaimore in 1919 and have resided here ever since.

For upwards of ten years Fred has been following mining. He is the second of the family to meet death at the local mine, John Maurice, the eldest of the family, dying from injuries sustained at the tipple on January 6th, 1921, aged about 18 1/2 years.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson; two brothers, Norman at home and Percy in Lethbridge; and a sister, Miss Annie, at home.

Floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

ALBERTA WOMEN PLAN TALKS ON GOV'T PROBLEMS

Alberta women during the next few months will take an active part in provincial political affairs, according to plans announced in Calgary this week by groups sponsoring a series of radio broadcasts to begin Thursday afternoon, Nov. 18.

Serious study of the many public problems and administrative issues now facing the people will be undertaken in the proposed province-wide campaign under the direction of Mrs. J. F. Ferguson, Trochu, president of the Alberta Women's Liberal Association, and for several years president of the Alberta Women's Institutes, assisted by a special committee of women who are organizing hundreds of local groups throughout the province for the purpose of listening in at the monthly broadcasts and talking over the situation as surveyed by the various speakers.

These broadcasts will be carried over a provincial network originating in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, to go on the air every third Thursday of the month for the next few months from 3.30 to 3.45 p.m. Owing to her absence in the East, Mrs. Ferguson will be unable to open the series, but will speak to Alberta women on December 18. The first broadcast will feature Mrs. R. L. Nicholson, Calgary, first vice-president of the Alberta Women's Liberal Association, who will speak from Calgary at 3.30 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday, November 18th.

J. R. Gresham, of Whiskey Gap, was a visitor with his parents here on Sunday last.

PRO. WRESTLING TO BE INTRODUCED TO BLAIRMORE FANS

Modern professional wrestling will make its debut at the Columbus hall, Blaimore, on Monday, November 15, with one of the best cards ever to be presented to Pass grappling fans. Bob Jepson, 220 pounds, of Portland, Oregon, will attempt to add another victory to his long list of triumphs when he takes on Stan Lewis, 210 pounds, of Omaha, Nebraska, in the main event. Jepson, more familiarly known to the city mat followers as the Red Scorpion, is a colorful performer and a real contest can be expected. The match calls for best two out of three falls with a 90-minute time limit.

In the semi-windup, Wally Shervin, 160 pounds, of Edmonton, a coming headliner, will exchange holds with Mike Bilinsky, 160 pounds, of Calgary, who needs no introduction as a crowd pleaser. This will be a 60-minute affair with the best two of three falls.

As an opener, local amateur boxers will don the gloves to put the spectators in the right frame of mind for the mat battles. Blaimore Columbus Club is sponsoring the show, with Frank Barringham managing.

LATE FALL SAILINGS AT LOW-PRICED FARES

Five low-priced late fall voyages to Bermuda, the Bahamas Islands and Jamaica are on the sailing program of the Canadian National Steamships to cap this year's activities on the "Western Route" before the regular winter sailings commence with the beginning of the new year, according to Victor E. Eke, passenger traffic manager of the company.

Three of these sailings are from Montreal, via the St. Lawrence River and Gulf, two departures already having taken place, one on October 27, and one on November 10, the other departure will be on November 24. The two other sailings take place from Boston on December 11, and 25. These voyages present a choice of vacation periods ranging from 8 to 25 days' duration, to accommodate those seeking a late season holiday at sea.

"Round Voyage" and combination trips are characteristic of these departures. Passengers sailing on November 24 from Montreal will be offered an 8-day and 12-day combination Bermuda-Boston trip.

The sailing of "Lady" liners from Montreal on November 24 will also make a 22-day "Round Voyage" trip covering Bermuda-Nassau-Jamaica-Boston and back. This sailing is expected to draw a large quota of residents from both Canada and the United States, as it permits a trip southbound from Montreal, and northbound to Boston, making an attractive 22-day journey for those who have reserved a three-weeks' holiday period for late in the year.

"With lower fares in effect during the last quarter of the year, and a further reduction for honeymoon couples sailing within a week of their wedding day, these late fall sailings of 'Lady' liners should draw considerable patronage, particularly in view of a general upward trend in fares during the coming year," stated Mr. Eke.

SEA SCOUTS TO HAVE FLEET OF WHALERS

A 25-foot whaler has been presented to the Sea Scouts of Vancouver by the Vancouver Lions Club. The craft, which will accommodate 16 boys, is the second of a fleet of four which the club set out to provide the British Columbia Sea Scouts. The first was presented last spring.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON (By C. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 8.—Alberta was all set again this week to be hauled into Utopianism, Leslie D. Byrne, bearing the candle and the $6,000 salary (supplemented by a suitable expense account which amounted to $2,750 for the cost of getting to Edmonton the first place of a permanent member of the "provincial credit commission" set up under the Social Credit board, arrived in Edmonton to resume his expiring.

Many Albertans were surprised at the statement drawn from Mr. Byrne by interviewers as he reached the scene of his efforts. "The difficulty now standing in the way of Social Credit in Alberta," he said, "is not economic or technical but merely political, and until the political hindrance is removed nothing can be done about Social Credit."

He did not explain how it occurred, that he as a "technical" of "Social Credit," should be brought to Alberta so early when there is no possibility of proceeding with Social Credit. Neither was any member of the government offered an explanation of it, a merchantant not for Social Credit in the 1938 election, but for $25 a month and a lower living cost. That's what Mr. Byrne said in a statement which he had all ready for newspapers when he landed in Quebec early last week, and which showed signs of having been written by himself or someone else before he left Major Douglas' headquarters in London for Alberta. William Aberhart's platform and promises of something called Social Credit during the election campaign, according to that statement, didn't draw the votes at all; it was just the promise of a $25 a month dividend.

Many people in Alberta, who have opposed the Social Credit party political machine all along, have said that from the very first, and usually have had it denied until Mr. Powell and Mr. Byrne, and evidently Major Douglas saw the need of reviving that talk about a basic dividend unless the whole Social Credit picture were to be shattered in Alberta, with unhealthy effect as a major Douglas' world appeal as a writer of books and as a solicitor of contributions to help a new economic order of civilization.

But Mr. Byrne is back in Alberta again. He came up his job with an insurance company in Birmingham to come here, he said, and so must struggle with the $6,000 salary and travelling expenses, as long as he continues to be employed by the people of Alberta. There still has been no report, as far as it is known, on the activities of Mr. Byrne and Mr. Powell during the summer when, presumably they were drawing up statistics and a plan for Alberta.

The claims that have been made by supporters of the present government lately about the sovereign rights of the province are to be aired now, the Dominion government has announced last week that the bank licensing bill, the bank taxation bill and the present control bill, on which royal assent was reserved when the bills were passed last month, are all to be referred to the supreme court of Canada for a decision on their legal standing, along with the question of the Dominion government's right to disallow provincial legislation.

Alberta newspapers have retained counsel to present their case before the court—the highest legal authority in the Dominion—and acting as chief counsel will be Hon. J. L. Ralston, former minister of national defence for Canada, chief counsel for the Turgon grain commission and long known as one of the outstanding lawyers of the Dominion.

The reference to the supreme court, however, will do nothing more than the actual validity or invalidity, in law, of the three bills, although it makes clear the point as to whether the power of federal disallowance of provincial acts still exists. And whatever the decision of the supreme court of Canada, the bills are then to be taken to the judicial committee and the prime minister's council—the highest legal and constitutional authority in the empire—for the judgment of that ultimate court, in order that the question may be settled for once and all, it was announced by Premier King.

The court's decisions on the three bills, however, will decide merely the legal validity of those bills, and provide the question of whether they are ultra vires or intra vires of the province is decided, then the government-in-council which in effect means the Dominion government, will decide whether they are to receive the royal assent which was reserved when they were passed by the legislature. If it decides to approve royal assent to them, then the Dominion government will still have the right to disallow them.

It has been emphasized by legal authorities that the Dominion's right of disallowance of provincial legislation—the right which is now being questioned by the Alberta government—was not meant to be exercised in the case of legislation which otherwise would be ultra vires, invalid in law. In such cases of ultra vires legislation, the courts would throw out the invalid bills, it was emphasized, the power of disallowance was meant to be applied principally to provincial legislation which was good in law, was opposed to the policy, or a menace to the good government of the Dominion as a whole. The power was meant to extend, as well, to legislation patently invalid which, if it were to be applied before it could be referred to courts, would damage the nation at large.

Thus, since Canada was established as a nation 70 years ago, that federal power of disallowance of provincial Four masked men held up the manager of the Harvey Bosenberry store at Brockle, bound him with rope and robbed the safe of $4,000 cash, property of the elevator companies. Looks as though the crime was planned by some party knowing a whole lot about the money being there.

Dr. B. T. McGuire, Ontario deputy minister of health, speaking at Toronto, stated: "If the newspapers could give the same attention to the diphtheria menace as to the infantile paralysis epidemic, this disease, which took 33 lives in Ontario last year, would soon be wiped out."

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Naylor, of Coleman, announce the engagement of their second daughter, Rebecca Anne (Betty), to Harold Montague, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Turner, of Nelson. The wedding will take place in Vancouver this month. Miss Naylor has been on the nursing staff of the Nanton, Alberta, hospital.

A new car belonging to Russell Richards, was stolen from Hillcrest on Monday morning. It was located in a ditch just east of Cowley, somewhat damaged. The same morning, a car belonging to E. Matthews, elevator manager at Cowley, was stolen, presumably by the same party or parties. No trace of the latter car has as yet been found. In addition to the car thefts, other items, including a radio and several batteries, and gasoline, were reported stolen.

Legislation has been used to check provincial politicians passing mischievous laws which would have the effect of endangering the well-being of Canada as a whole, and the liberties of the people. And if ever there was such a law, it is being commented now by Canadians apart from the Social Credit government's. Following, it surely would be a law that violated the government of banking, freedom of conscience, freedom of speech or freedom of the press.

Irrigation and Immigration

Two major questions of public policy are at the present time engendering a good deal of attention in Western Canada, frequent reference being made to them at meetings of organizations and in the news and editorial columns of the daily press. They are the problems of irrigation and immigration.

On the face of it, it may appear that these two questions have little or nothing in common with one another but a little reflection shows that they are, or ought to be, closely related when either subject is brought up for discussion and consideration.

Their relationship becomes apparent when it is remembered that the economic fate of the farmer of the present day in the West and that of the future settler is dependent upon the presence or absence of sufficient moisture to ensure the growth of field crops and the maturity of livestock, and when consideration is given to the probability, nay almost the certainty, that the West will again sometime in the future be subjected the ravages of drought.

Conditions of the present day opposition to immigration would vanish into thin air if there were some assurance that the next visitation of drought conditions would witness a supply of irrigable water in storage for the maximum acreage that could be served from this source in such an eventuality.

History, as demonstrated by geological data and revealed in the growth of trees over the past 200 or 300 years, has shown that the prairies for centuries have been subject to recurrent periods of drought of varying intensity and duration and there is no reason to believe that in this respect history will not repeat itself in the future. In fact, meteorological and other authorities appear to be in unanimous agreement on this point and only recently an expert was quoted as stating that the West will always be subject to drought periods.

This being taken for granted it appears to be a rational suggestion that advantage should be taken of the experiences of the past eight years to provide, as soon as possible, for the storage of available waste water to the maximum extent of engineering feasibility.

To some extent this is being done under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, but where no program being carried out or mapped out for future undertaking meet the desideratum of maximum engineering possibility is debatable.

It is true that it would be folly to attempt to carry out projects which are beyond the realm of engineering feasibility, but there are some authorities who contend that some schemes which come within this scope should not be undertaken because they are not economically sound, in other words, they would be no expensive that they could not possibly be self supporting. Crop returns could not support the overhead, is the contention.

It is just these projects, those which are feasible from the engineer's viewpoint but regarded in some quarters as economically unsound which might well be subjected to further scrutiny in the hope that some measures might be devised to relieve them, if constructed, of some portion of the overhead which seems to be the stumbling block.

If, for example, these projects in the doubtful economic category could be utilized as a form of public works program, financed substantially by grants in aid from the Dominion treasury, at least to the extent to which cash is now being donated for the sustenance of the same number of men who are idle, can it be doubted that some of these undertakings might be relieved of sufficient carrying charges to bring them within the scope of economically feasible undertakings as well as engineering possibilities?

It has been urged that the Dominion government has no legal authority under the British North America Act to carry out public works except through grants to the provinces, but assistance presumably can be legally given in that form and, if so, why not?

The point is that large sums of money are now being expended from the Federal treasury to sustain thousands of families without giving them an opportunity to contribute a quid pro quo. If some of this money could be utilized to provide work for a substantial number on projects which would be of permanent benefit to the principal industry of the West, agriculture, it would serve the double purpose of maintaining the morale of large numbers and possibly of making economically feasible some projects which are now in the doubtful class by relieving them of a portion of the carrying charges. At any rate, the idea is worthy of further investigation on the part of the authorities.

While immigration as a topic has more or less shelved during the summer months and particularly after it became apparent that the West as a unit was to sustain this year a disaster of the greatest magnitude there are indications that some efforts are being made to actively promote settlement schemes in the immediate future. Brigadier-General Hornby was recently quoted as stating that the time for talk has passed and action must be taken and Commissioner Lamb of the Salvation Army is touring the West, presumably particularly interested in the question of migration from the British Isles.

To the average individual farmer and farmer organizations any proposal to pass immigration and settlement schemes at this time appears to be unpropitious, but to the extent to which crop yields can be assured in future through irrigation and conservation projects, to that extent at least, opposition to plans to bring more people into the country to engage in agricultural pursuits would diminish.

Germany Is Making Shoes And Gloves From Fish Skin

Germany's efforts toward raw material independence are brought out in an exhibition of shoes and gloves manufactured from fish skins. The exhibition shows that the manufacture of leather from fish skins is increasing rapidly, and it is reported that highly satisfactory tests have proved the strength and durability of this leather. Many concerns exhibit gloves and shoes of widely differing patterns. It is declared that fish leather articles will soon appear in retail trade.

Called A Perfect Crime

Collection Of 70,000 Banknotes Disappears From Owner's Home

London's perfect crime—the theft of the $250,000 Avonmore collection of banknotes, unavailable in the open market—has just been discovered. The collection of 70,000 notes, in 110 leather-bound books, vanished from the home of Frederick Ernest Catling. There was nothing to show how the thieves entered the house. There were no fingerprints, no marks on any window, and no one heard a sound.

Royal Ulster Rifles

Organized In 1793, And Engaged In Battles During Last 150 Years

The Royal Ulster Rifles, raised in 1793, carries on its colors the battle honors of most of the major battles in which British troops have been engaged in the last 150 years.

Its allied regiment is the Canadian militia is the Lorne Rifles, of Georgetown, Ont. The Ulsters were composed of the old 83rd and 86th foot. The 83rd was raised in Dublin for service in the West Indies, while the latter was a Shropshire regiment, being first known as the Shropshire Volunteers. When the present system was adopted, the two were combined as the Royal Irish Rifles.

Following the treaty with the Free State in 1922, five famous Irish regiments disappeared from British army lists. The Royal Irish, however, were retained, their name being changed to the Royal Ulster Rifles and a recruiting area in northern Ireland being allotted to them.

The regiment fought under the Duke of Wellington throughout the Peninsula War of 1808-14, and was represented at all the big battles of the famous campaign, including Talavera, Bourbon, Busaco, Fuentes D'Oñor, Ciudad Rodrigo, Badajoz, Salamanca, Vittoria, Nivelle, Orthes and Toulouse.

Both battalions served in India during the mutiny of 1857, and the colors carry "Central India" to commemorate the regiment's service. In the Boer War the Second Battalion served throughout the campaign.

The Great War saw the Ulsters in action at the Battle of Mons in 1914, and thereafter they were in every major engagement in France and Flanders until the armistice.

Other battalions were at the Suvla Landing in Gallipoli and at the Battle of Sari Bair, later serving in the Palestine campaign and taking part in the several battles of Gaza and the capture of Jerusalem.

Air Line Pilots

Will Wear Uniform Of Navy Blue And Of Navy Cut

Style notes for Trans-Canada Air Line pilots have been issued. The well-dressed pilot will wear a uniform of navy blue and of navy cut—and he will look much like an officer of the royal navy.

A pattern uniform, soon to be sent to the operating department at Winnipeg for suggestions as to details, consists of a double-breasted "monkey jacket" and trousers known as "slacks." An immaculate crease, too, will grace them.

Caps, it was announced, will not be worn in the planes, but pilots will have small toques to wear in cold weather. Hank badges have not yet been decided upon.

Emblems of the line, formally approved by directors, consists of a maple leaf within a circle 20 inches in diameter. The circle is of gold rimmed with blue. Imposed on the leaf, which is in autumn colors, is a conventionalized bird in flight—somewhat similar to Imperial Airways' device—and the gold letters T.C.A.

The design will be placed on port and starboard sides of the plane's nose forward of the pilot's cab.

"Canada 1937"

This Season's Broadcasts Bringing A New Experience To Canadian Listeners

The radio series "Canada 1937" which scored such success last season started again last week. This season, this most spectacular of Canadian broadcasts will be heard Friday evenings at 10:00 p.m. EST.

Outstanding commentators under the guidance of Vernon Bartlett will again speak from Europe—an interviewer in Canada probing for answers to the questions of the "man in the street."

Lionel Shapiro, Canadian correspondent in New York, will speak from N.B.C. studios, relating such latest happenings of the Gay White Way as are of interest to Canadian listeners.

A new technique will be introduced in the talks on Canada to make the very pulse of the nation audible to listeners throughout the country. Mr. Walter Bowles will broadcast from the various localities each week, telling of that district's contribution to Canada's progress and interviewing "nation builders" who make that progress possible.

Yet another outstanding feature of the program will be the musical selection will be specially arranged for the large orchestra and choir that is being used.

In sponsoring these broadcasts—to be again produced by Victor George-Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited—is bringing a new experience to Canadian listeners. These Friday evening programs are a live demonstration of the fact that Canadian broadcasting is equal to the challenge for something new and spectacular.

In The Old Days

The London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal says: There has been a happy ending to the sea drama of Endeavour I. Having parted their tow-rope in an Alaskan storm, and not been seen or heard of for some days, Endeavour I was made a stunt sensation. Her tumultuous welcome amazed her sturdy skipper and crew.

But how strangely our views about ships and the sea have changed. To-day we are appalled by the thought of a 100-ton yacht crossing the Atlantic, and maybe American yachtsmen will now modify their obsolete Cup conditions. But this view is due purely to our modern obsession with great 60,000-ton liners. The Queen Mary warps our historical perspective.

Drake's Pelican, afterwards rechristened Golden Hind, in which nearly four centuries ago he circumnavigated the globe and was exactly the same tonnage as Endeavour I. Most of his accompanying ships were even smaller. The Elizabeth was only 80 tons. Then it was the men who were giants. Now it is the ships.

ALICE STEVENS' RECIPES

HOME MADE CANDY MAKES POPULAR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Christmas is almost here. Times are hard and you are finding it difficult to do much Christmas shopping. Why not plan to make a number of "candy gifts" for your friends?

If you have allowed high-pressure salesmanship to commercialize your family, in many cases, the spirit of the first Christmas. The loving thoughts back of the "gift" rather than the gift itself, is the most important part of the gift.

This latter type are usually wrapped away and forgotten. Buy a few jars of your best jelly? These would make lovely gifts. Make a little extra and some of your friends would be very happy to receive a jar.

A box of home-made candy is very much enjoyed by every member of the family. In many cases, the ingredients used are better than in bought candy. It is certainly much cheaper. On the farm you have your own milk, cream and butter. The temperature is one of the most important parts of candy making.

While a thermometer is most accurate, a little practice means that only a guess is made. It is quite valuable. Use cold water and see the kind of ball that a few drops of the candy will make in this cold water. Fudges and maple cream need to be boiled to the soft-ball stage. The candy made in this stage, to be boiled to the hard-ball stage.

The humidity of the atmosphere is also important. It is harder to make good candy on a dull, cloudy day than on a bright, clear day. Boil the candy a little longer on a dull day. Have as little steam as possible in the kitchen. See that the kettle is not boiling.

Candy is very apt to be grainy. This can be avoided by adding a little corn syrup, vinegar or cream of tartar. There is a chemical change takes place in the sugar and the addition of one of these hastens the change. If the sugar does not make this change, the candy is sure to be grainy.

Do not stir the candy while boiling. The sugar should be dissolved before the candy starts to boil. Stir the sugar until it is dissolved. If crystals of sugar form on the sides of the pan during the boiling, wipe them off with a small piece of cloth tied to a fork. If the candy is covered during the first half of the boiling, these crystals are melted by the steam and there is less danger of the candy becoming sugary.

If the candy is to be beaten, as in fudges and maple cream, allow the candy to cool before starting to beat. The candy should be in a bowl. Do not cool the candy suddenly by setting the pan in cold water.

FINOCHIO

2 cups brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon flavoring
Melt the butter. Add sugar and stir until mixture starts to boil. Boil without stirring until the mixture forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. (Time will take about 12 minutes). Cool and beat. Nuts and fruit may be added, if desired.

A Chinese Bomber

This Is A Story Of Nerve And Hazardous Daring

The tale of the Chinese bomber deserves to pass down in history, how at dusk when the Japanese bombers were returning home, he joined the four planes and travelled along with them, his Chinese markings getting no attention in the gloom. He switched on his lights when they switched theirs and circled the airframe along with them.

One by one the Japanese bombers lagged, and when the four of them were drawn up along with three others which were on the ground, down swooped the Chinese airman to within 500 feet and plants two bombs among them and seven perfectly good Japanese bombing planes were gone to the place where all good, or bad, bombing planes go. Then this next little bit of work took place, off drops the Chinese airman to his own lines. A story of nerve, initiative and hazardous daring, which deserves to live—Halifax Chronicle.

Farm Tires Show Big Increase

Nearly All Tractors Now Equipped With Rubber Tires

Attended by 115,000 farmers, over 70 tractors competed in the field at one time during the International Plowing Match held at Fergus, Ontario, from October 12 to 15. Only six tractors were on steel-juggled wheels, the remainder being rubber-tired, which reflects the tremendous growth of pneumatic tires for tractors since they were introduced at the Ottawa Match in 1930. Outstanding in performance were the tractors on Firestone Ground Grip Tires, as they won eight out of nine of the first nine events, including the grand championship, captured by Fred Timbers, of Kingswood, Ontario, for the third consecutive time.

Cancer Control

Fourteen Thousand Dollars Has Been Granted Yearly For This Purpose

An annual sum of $14,000 has been placed at the disposal of the newly formed cancer control department of the Canadian Medical Association, Dr. A. D. Kelly, assistant secretary of the association, announced. The money, income from $500,000 collected for the King George V Memorial Cancer Fund, has been made available to the association on condition it organize for the control of cancer and for advancement of study of the disease by doctors. Dr. Kelly said.

READY TO BRING YOU RELIEF
IN MINUTES

THE REASON "ASPIRIN" WORKS SO FAST

Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a tumbler of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolved. This speed of dissolution enables "Aspirin" tablets to start "feeling better" of headache and other pain a few minutes after taking.

YOU can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Headaches, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve—the one used by thousands of families daily—is "Aspirin." Usually this will ease such pain in a remarkably short time.

For quick relief from such pain which exhausts you and keeps you awake at night—ask for "Aspirin." "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of West Germany, and for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

One Of Hardest Things

Keeping Cheerful In The Face Of Trivial Annoyances

The hardest thing is to keep cheerful under the little things that come from unaccountable surroundings, the very insignificance of which adds to their power to annoy, because they cannot be wrestled with and overcome, as in the case of larger hurts.

Some disagreeable habit in one to whom we may owe respect and duty, and which is a constant irritation to our sense of fitness of things, may demand of us a greater moral force to keep the spirit serene than an absolute wrong committed against us. In the one case endurance is all that is possible; in the other we may sometimes rightfully fight—and there is a world of comfort in the powers of action.

STRONG ATTACK IS LAUNCHED BY CHINESE TROOPS

Shanghai.—The precarious Japanese foothold on the south bank of Soochow creek became almost untenable under the fury of a heavily-reinforced Chinese attack.

After a day and night of bitter fighting the Japanese claimed to have established a 1,000-yard long position on the south bank of the creek which makes through the international settlement to the west. A survey of the front line showed the Japanese holding a sector near Robinson village where they had driven a narrow wedge into the Chinese position about three miles west of Shanghai.

Foreign naval observers reported heavy concentrations of Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river with 42 min-of-war between Shanghai and Wusung and some 40 more near the mouth of the river.

They expressed belief the Japanese intended to make a landing in force in the Footing Industrial area, just across the Whangpoo from Shanghai's Bund.

Thousands of fresh, well-equipped Chinese troops, moved up to the battlefield stretching northwest from Shanghai, Chinese Legionnaires struck again and again at the point of the Japanese advance.

Aided by their reinforcements, Premier Chiang Kai-Shek's youthful legions fought furiously against the Japanese veterans. Ignoring the circling bombing planes and the Japanese heavy artillery, the Chinese lashed out at the Japanese troops.

The Chinese positions in the rear areas were so formidable it was considered likely the Chinese could succeed in holding up the Japanese for some time. It also was apparent the Chinese intend to hold their right flank on the international settlement boundary. There they were completing powerful barbed wire entanglements and sandbag barriers obnoxious to positions of the British and French guard outposts near Hungjiao road.

Japanese forces trying to drive Chinese south of their Soochow creek positions bombarded the Jessfield park area near the British army outposts.

The Japanese drive suffered a setback, a Chinese spokesman declared, when Chinese artillery destroyed two of three bridges Japanese engineers had thrown over Soochow creek.

Spirited fighting was under way on all fronts in China, but neither Chinese nor Japanese were able to achieve clear-cut gains toward major objectives. It appeared a temporary stalemate had developed, Japanese continued widespread aerial activities.

On the Shanghai front Japanese made small gains at heavy sacrifices but were unable to consolidate their advances on the south bank of Soochow Creek.

In North China, the tide of battle shifted back and forth along the Peiping-Hankow railway with Chinese declaring their forces had launched an offensive which carried them northward across the Chang river, 17 miles north of Changteh, in northern Honan province. Japanese at Peiping declared the Chinese attack was repulsed.

Show Steady Increase

Income Tax Collections Have Been Greater This Year

Ottawa.—A steady rise in income tax collections was shown in figures released by the department of national revenue. In the first seven months of the fiscal year, collections totalled $99,202,556, compared with $84,072,599.

Gains were made in nearly every district. Toronto led with collections of $34,338,702, an increase of $5,710,995. Montreal was second with collections of $26,465,463, an increase of $4,101,541. London was third with $9,070,525, an increase of $1,229,567, and Vancouver fourth, with $6,814,711, an increase of $1,655,351.

Ottawa was the only district to show a decrease this year from last year's collections reporting $6,589,190 and $6,896,081.

The following shows collections by districts with the increase over last year in brackets:

Edmonton, $404,008 ($70,882); Calgary, $1,058,305 ($22,374); Banff, $184,479 ($44,881); Regina, $276,715 ($72,779); Winnipeg, $2,427,561 ($506,765).

Build Fast Planes

R.A.F. Engineers Hope To Smash Long Distance Records

London.—Royal Air Force engineers are working on a new type of pursuit seaplane and two bombers with which they hope to smash speed and distance records in test flights next year.

Two machines are being groomed for fresh speed laurels. One, a "split-fine" model, has a 1,000-horsepower motor, and is an improvement on the R.A.F. machine which took the Schneider speed trophy. It is expected to smash the existing record of 352 miles an hour.

The other aspirants for the speed mark is a modified version of the twin-motored Blenheim bomber which has reached a reported speed of better than 350 miles an hour.

A Vickers-Wellesley two-motored bomber, with a flying range of 7,000 miles, will attempt to set a new distance record. According to current plans, it will take off from Cranwell or Mildenhall airport for Singapore, whence it will race to Sydney, New South Wales, within a total elapsed time of three days.

New Bond Issue

Heavily Oversubscribed Two Hours After Books Opened

Ottawa.—Finance department and Bank of Canada officials were busy analyzing and classifying the flood of subscriptions to the new $100,000,000 government bond issue which was heavily oversubscribed two hours after the books opened.

It was announced the allotment would be made on the following basis: $20,000,000 in the 1½-year one per cent. bonds, $20,000,000 in seven-year 2½ per cent. bonds and $60,000,000 in the 14-year 3½ per cent. maturity.

When the subscription books were opened the response indicated almost at once the entire issue in all three maturities would be quickly taken up.

Proceeds of the loan will go toward redeeming the last of the Victory bonds issued in 1917 and bearing interest at 5½ per cent. free of income tax. That issue matures next Dec. 1 and is the last of government tax-free bonds.

Rescued From Dredge

Members Of The Crew Give Description Of Experiences

Halifax.—Long hours spent huddled together in the dredge Foundation Scarboro's deckhouse, hoping for help to arrive as seas from 30 to 40 feet high broke over the dredge from all sides, were described by two members of the crew of the Scarboro who arrived in Halifax.

Wallowing in mountainous seas whipped up by a raging gale from the time two tow lines between the dredge and the tug Bancroft broke on a voyage from Halifax to Montreal, the Scarboro drifted about 2½ miles an hour, 19-year-old Thomas Morris and a Chinese engineer, 30, said.

They were taken off the dredge by the Lickstep, N.S., fishing schooner Howard Donald, and landed at Lunenburg, N.S. Captain George Morgan and Daniel Morris were taken off the Scarboro by the vessel Florim, and she had the dredge in tow. Morris said that twice before the Howard Donald was sighted, two other vessels passed them.

Plot In Soviet State

Two Attempts Made To Assassinate Joseph Stalin

Moscow.—A plot to cut off the southern Abkhazian republic from the Soviet Union, in which two attempts were made to assassinate Joseph Stalin, general secretary of the Communist party, was unfolded at Sukhumi on the Black Sea, where 13 former Abkhazian officials are on trial for their lives.

Details of the plot, reported in the Tiflis newspaper "Dawn of the East," revealed the alleged conspirators prepared for an insurrection in the event of a war with Germany by sabotage and spying in order to wreck Soviet control and give the autonomous Abkhazian republic its independence.

In line with this program, a first attempt was made to kill the secretary-general of the Communist party in 1933, when shots were fired on a boat in which Stalin was sailing in Pitsunda bay.

Exhibit Destroyed By Fire

Winnipeg.—An exhibit of grain and grasses, valued at $3,200, gathered in western Canada for shipment to the London exhibition commission in England, was destroyed when fire swept the Trades and Commission building on Maple street here. Damage to the building was estimated at $10,000.

Decrease In Bacon Exports

Canada Unable To Send Usual Quantity This Year

Ottawa.—Inability of Canada to maintain her bacon exports to Great Britain in recent months has been met in part by increased British quotas to foreign countries, with a resulting decline in the British price for Canadian bacon of about $3.50 a hundredweight, the department of agriculture reports.

Canadian bacon exports to Britain fell from 42,408 live hogs weekly in May and June to 21,513 weekly in September and 20,513 weekly for the first three weeks of October.

Largest single direct factor in the decline of Canadian bacon exports is thought to be the western Canada drought, since about half the hogs exported came from west of the great lakes.

BRITAIN TO KEEP WATCH ON TONE OF RADIO COMMENT

London.—The government is watching the tone of Italian press and radio comment on London's current difficulties in Palestine, Viscount Cranborne, foreign under-secretary, told the House of Commons. Italians have recently modified their broadcast propaganda aimed at the Palestine Arabs, he said.

The Italian broadcasts had been the subject of several conversations between London and Rome but an improvement in the tone of the broadcasts has convinced London further representations are not necessary, he added.

Colonial Minister Ormsby-Gore decried reports Great Britain approached French authorities for the extradition of Haj Amin El Hussein, grand mufti of Jerusalem, who recently eluded arrest and escaped to Syria.

Mr. Ormsby-Gore said the government is doing its utmost to solve the problem of Jewish immigration without violating the terms of the League of Nations mandate.

He laid the blame for the current unrest to the mufti and the Arab high committee. It was the assassination in late September of Lewi Yelland Andrews, British district commissioner for Galilee, which impelled the government to take stern action.

Insurgent Air Raid

Eighty Persons Reported Killed And Many Injured

Madrid.—Despatches from Barcelona reported an estimated 80 persons were killed and an undetermined number injured in an insurgent air raid on the city, 100 miles west of Barcelona.

Twelve tri-motored bombers suddenly attacked Barbastró, only 30 miles from Lerida where 120 were killed in a similar raid recently, resulting in a complete cargo of bombs.

Reports from the city said the raid lasted only a few minutes, but was of terrific intensity.

In the Lerida raid, 50 school children were among the victims. Both Lerida and Barbastró are among the northeast Spanish cities included in the government's defence operations along the wide Zaragoza front.

A government communiqué reported the capture of positions near Fuentes de Ebro, on the Aragon front of northeastern Spain, which had been lost recently because of floods. The communiqué said only desultory firing occurred on the various fronts.

Arrival of a group of Asturian troops on the central front was reported semi-officially.

Toronto.—Rabbi Maurice N. Eisenstadt charged Fascists were responsible for pinning a Swastika emblem and a funeral crepe upon the door of his home here and asked for a public inquiry into Nazi and Fascist activities in Canada. Recently a placard bearing a Swastika was nailed to the door, he said.

New Ship Is Larger

Glasgow.—The Queen Mary's sister ship, taking shape on the Clyde, will accommodate 2,400 passengers, compared with the Mary's 2,113. Since hotel services on the new ship must be expanded to take care of additional passengers, her total floating population may be about 400 more than the Queen Mary's 3,214.

Friendship With Italy

Move Made To Restore Old Feeling Of Confidence

London.—British statesmen spoke anew of friendship with Italy and of peace in the Mediterranean.

In the House of Commons Prime Minister Chamberlain reported on the personal letters he exchanged last July with Premier Mussolini. They agreed, he said, the "old feeling of mutual confidence and affection" could be restored if "misunderstandings were cleared away by conversations."

In the house of lords the Marquess of Dufferin and Ava, under-secretary for the colonies, said: "We have no other wish than to live in peace and friendship with our neighbors in the Mediterranean."

Lord Dufferin said the government's sole concern was to protect the Mediterranean as a highway for world traffic. The "gentleman's agreement" between the United Kingdom and Italy for maintenance of the status quo and for peaceful trade through that sea and the Suez canal, however, "for various reasons did not have the full effect intended."

The prime minister, recovered from an attack of gout, presided over the weekly cabinet meeting. He reviewed in the house events leading up to the "personal" exchange of letters with Mussolini.

PROVINCES ARE PREPARING BRIEFS FOR COMMISSION

Ottawa.—Working plans for royal commission study of Dominion-provincial relations, which will centre on distribution of responsibilities and taxing powers between the Dominion and the provinces, were announced by Chairman Newton W. Rowell.

The chairman released the schedule of public hearings planned in the nine provincial capitals and Ottawa and the personnel of the group of economists retained to advise the commission.

Mr. Rowell said the commission expected to conclude its hearings by next July 31 if given the co-operation promised. Hearings start in Winnipeg, Nov. 29. The commission aims on having its report in the hands of the government by the end of 1938.

The chairman emphasized the commission's function is purely advisory. What further steps were taken after its report was submitted were government responsibilities.

The commission was not concerned with any general overhauling of the British North America Act, he said. Its prime purpose was to make an economic and financial study which might ultimately involve a redistribution of powers of taxation and some amendments to the B.N.A. Act.

Recently returned from a trip on which he visited all the provincial premiers, Mr. Rowell said, "in all cases they promised co-operation with the commission."

"All provinces are preparing briefs which will be submitted to us in due course, I expect," the chairman continued. "After we left Edmonton a resolution was passed in the legislature there against presentation of a brief to the commission. The premier announced later they would proceed with the printing of the brief."

While the Alberta government would undoubtedly keep in view the wishes of the Alberta legislature in this regard, the chairman "presumed" the brief would reach the commission "in some form so that the views of the government will be known to the commission."

The commission would gather information from four sources on the matters it was investigating: From the federal and provincial governments; from "recognized" public organizations; interested in some phase of the investigation; from a staff of experts conducting private investigations and studies for the commission, and from competent witnesses it might call to appear before it.

The commission's planned itinerary follows: Nov. 29, opening at Winnipeg; Dec. 9, open at Regina, journeying before Christmas; mid-January, sit at Ottawa to hear Dominion-wide organizations, of which 15 to 20 already have indicated their desire to make representations; first three weeks of February in the three Maritime provincial capitals, then moving to Alberta and British Columbia for March; Quebec and Ontario in April on dates not yet determined.

A final sitting is planned for Ottawa, beginning June 1 at which all government views will be represented. It is hoped this sitting will be concluded by July 1.

BRITAIN MAY REACH AGREEMENT WITH INSURGENTS

London.—The full Spanish non-intervention committee was convened to authorize Great Britain to solicit co-operation in Spain toward withdrawal of foreign troops as London carried on commercial negotiations with the insurgents.

Great Britain, with her industries needing raw materials such as Spain's rich deposits of mercury, iron, copper and pyrites, was reported to have all but arrived at an agreement on trade with insurgent Spain.

Reliable sources said the commercial agreement would be on the lines of the existing arrangement with Italy in her unrecognized empire of northern Africa.

The agreement was not likely to be completed, however, they said, until General Franco provided the foreign office with the result of the "searching inquiry" he promised into the sickness of the British citizenship Jean Weems of the Catalan coast.

The agreement was said to mean Great Britain and the insurgents would have recognized agents at each other's capitals. Mr. Chamberlain, who mentioned the arrest of insurgent Spain where British are interested in rich mineral deposits, said France was fully informed of the negotiations.

Both London's most ardent pro-Franco newspaper, the Daily Mail, and the most enthusiastic pro-Valencia newspaper, the Daily Herald, said Great Britain was convinced that Franco would win the war. The Herald said the government had decided to accord de facto recognition to General Franco's government at the earliest possible moment because it had decided Franco "is going to win."

The Daily Mail said: "Britain, Germany and Italy all want the inside track to the vast mineral resources of insurgent Spain because of their rearmament needs, aside from diplomatic reasons."

"Italy and Germany would seek the established favorites because they have given Franco men and munitions. But John Bull holds one ace—money—which Franco will need in huge sums if he is victorious in order to establish a regime and rehabilitate Spain."

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons the British government and the Spanish insurgents were negotiating for appointment of a royal agent to Spain, which he declared, de facto diplomatic recognition for General Franco.

"These agents will have no diplomatic status," the premier said.

"There is no intention on the part of the British government to make any variation in the attitude they consistently have adopted toward the contending parties in Spain, which is governed by the international (non-intervention) agreement to which we have subscribed."

"They (the government), however, are bound to take into account their responsibilities for protection of British national and British commercial interests throughout the whole of Spain, including those large areas in the northwest and southwest parts of the country as well as the Spanish zone in Morocco of which the French agents are now in effective occupation."

This reference of Chamberlain's recalled recent statements by Spanish insurgent sources here that General Franco will make important concessions to British companies interested in Spanish copper mines.

Gift For Baden-Powell

Presented By Princess Royal On Behalf Of Scouts And Girl Guides

London.—A silver plate appropriately inscribed was presented to Lord Baden-Powell, chief scout, and Lady Baden-Powell, head of the Girl Scouts' and Girl Guides' Association of Great Britain.

The occasion was the 25th anniversary of their wedding and the presentation was made by the Princess Royal on behalf of the Boy Scouts' and Girl Guides' Association of Great Britain.

Plan Splendid Hunting Season

Prospects for big-game hunting are unusually bright in Canada this fall. Reports covering the thousands of square miles of wilderness accessible by Canadian Pacific Railway show a plenitude of game and excellent conditions for hunting. Outfitters and guides across the country also report more reservations for hunting parties, both from Canada and the United States, than they have had for years.

Wild sections of Canada lying practically in the back yard of civilization have a wide variety of big game in addition to many types of game birds and smaller animals. Nova Scotia has moose, deer and black bear; New Brunswick, moose and black bear; Quebec, moose, caribou, deer and black bear; Ontario, moose, deer and black bear; Manitoba and Saskatchewan, moose, deer and caribou; Alberta and British Columbia, mountain sheep and goats, caribou, moose, elk (wapiti), deer, and grizzly, brown and black bear; and the Yukon Territory and Alaska, practically the same as British Columbia.

An indication of the increased interest in hunting this year has been given by the number of applications coming to the general tourist offices in Windsor Station, Montreal, for copies of the two hunting booklets, "Open Seasons for Hunting" and "Fishing Waters and Game Haunts."

Carl: "Oh, she's about the same."

City Visitor: "I see there's a factory putting out milk made from hay."

Farmer: "Well, that ain't more'n my cows do every day."

Stern Parent (to applicant for daughter's hand): "Young man, can you support a family?"

Young Man (meekly): "I only wanted Sarah!"

Jimmy: "Too bad about Alfrod wrecking his car last night, especially with his girl along."

Norman: "Did something go wrong with his car?"

Jimmy: "Yes, too much play at the wheel."

A Limping Limerick

There was a brave lass of Connecticut Who signalled the train with her petticoat, Which the papers defined As just presence of mind— But deplorable absence of etiquette.

Passenger: "I didn't sleep a wink the way this train jerks. Is the engineer crazy?"

Porter: "No, boss, he's just teachin' his wife to drive."

"How do you like that new mare of yours?"

"Oh, fairly well; but I wish I had bought a horse. She's always stopping to look at herself in the puddles."

Silly Questions

A society matron was describing a visit she recently made to one of the down-town hospitals.

"It was a charity call," she explained, "and I was taken through the ward. What sights I saw! There was one poor chap whose head was covered with bandages. I asked him if there was something wrong with his head—and he made the most peculiar reply."

"What did he say?" asked one of the other ladies.

"Well," replied the society matron, "he looked at me very strangely and said: 'No, lady. My trouble is really an ingrown toenail—but the bandage slipped up!'"

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Six South Africans have set out from Durban to make a voyage around the world in a small ketch—"Land's End". The craft carries a 40-horsepower Diesel engine.

The failure of one flight will not halt Soviet Russia's aerial explorations in the Arctic regions. A Vartanian, Moscow engineer, told interviewers in Portland, Oregon.

Helium Purifying Plant To Be Built In Germany

The Zeppelin company ordered a helium purifying plant built in Germany, to be ready when the new Zeppelin, No. 130, leaves the air next spring for her maiden voyage to Lakhurst, New Jersey.

Model Leaves Fortune

Native Of The Island Of Capri Was Picturesque Character

Called the "characteristic fisherman" although he never fished in his life, A. Spadaro, native of the island of Capri, reputed to be "the most photographed man in the world," is dead. He was 81.

Hundreds of artists painted him in his picturesque red beret and long white beard and thousands of tourists photographed him.

Spadaro left a small fortune from fees he received as a model.

Safest Form Of Travel

Railroads Of Canada And United States Have Impressive Record

Railroad passenger traffic has been coming back in the last few years. Part of this is due to lower fares and part of it to the new equipment and faster schedules which the railroads have been adopting. But a good share must be attributed to the fact that travel by train is by far the safest form of travel in existence.

As a sample, consider this fact: During the first six months of 1937, not one passenger in Canada or the United States lost his life in a train accident. Impressive as that record is, it becomes even more so when you realize that the railroads carried more than 250 million passengers in that time.

Neither air traffic nor auto traffic can present comparable figures. Such a "safest" record speaks volumes for the efficiency of modern railroad operation—and is an excellent indication that the railroads will continue to be our greatest mass transportation agency. — Winnipeg Tribune

New Canard Liner

Progress Made In Construction Of White Star Liner No. 1029

Good progress is being made in the construction of the Cunard White Star liner No. 1029 at the shipyard of Canadit Ltd. & Company, Birkenhead.

The new vessel will be nearly 750 feet in length and have a gross tonnage of over 30,000.

Features of the hull design will be the terraced bridge superstructure, cruiser stern and two masts. In addition, there will be an installation of two large funnels only (instead of three or four) in big ships will be adopted.

This will mean not only increased deck space for games and promenading, but also increased interior passenger accommodation.

No. 1029 will be a twin screw vessel driven by Parsons' single reduction geared turbines. Steam will be supplied from high pressure water-tube boilers.

Three classes of passenger accommodation will be provided—cabin, tourist and third class—and all four classes the scale of accommodation will be on spacious up-to-date lines.

An idea of the size of the vessel can be obtained from the fact that there are ten decks. These include a sports deck and a sun deck giving good space for open-air activities in all classes. In addition there will be an unusually large number of sheltered promenade spaces available for passengers.

On the promenade deck there will be an extensive series of public rooms for cabin passengers. These will include an observation lounge and cocktail bar, grand hall (fitted with dance floor), lounge (fitted with writing salon, library and children's room. There will be a gymnasium, swimming-pool and verandah cafe.

The public rooms for tourist class passengers will meet the ever increasing number of people who travel in tourist class. There will be a lounge, smoking room and cocktail bar and a children's room, also a gymnasium.

Third class passengers will be provided with lounge, smoking room, children's room and unusually extensive deck spaces (both sheltered and open).

There will be facilities for entertainments, including dancing and "talkie" cinema shows in all three classes.

The keel of No. 1029 was laid down on May 24th, 1937. It is expected that the vessel will be launched in the summer of 1938 and ready for service in 1939.

Dinosaur Eggs

Those Found In Southern Alberta Said To Be Rock Formations

Mongolia's claim of the only place in the world where dinosaur eggs have been found still held good. A batch of "rock eggs" found by a road crew as they were blasting out a highway to Waterton park, 100 miles southwest of Lethbridge, have turned out to be just that. Scientists who examined them declared they were "fossilized calcareous eggshells," a limestone-like formation.

For more than a year the rocks were thought to be dinosaur eggs. All were approximately nine inches long and six inches in diameter. With them a "nest" more than three feet in diameter was found.

Herbert Knight, park superintendent who kept the eggs in his office, made the announcement of the scientific examination, but he did not disclose what scientist had made the study.

A decision to have the "eggs" looked over by an expert was made about two months ago, after a highway engineer at the park road of the dinosaur research work of C. Sternberg, a paleontologist attached to the geological survey of Canada.

Early this summer Mr. Sternberg made extensive digging in the southeast section of Alberta, using as his headquarters the town of Manyberries.

Mr. Sternberg followed up the work of many other paleontologists with the discovery of several dinosaur skeletons. Among them were the bones of a rare flesh-eating dinosaur, estimated to be 60,000,000 years old. He left the bones of some common duck bill varieties where he found them, considering them not of sufficient value to warrant further study.

Other prehistoric finds have been made in the "bad lands" district near Brooks, Alta., and in the Red Deer valley near the city of Red Deer.

Salvage operations on the Lutite, British wrecked off the Dutch coast in 1799, are expected to net nearly $10,000,000 in munition treasure.

Sask. Leading in Fight Against T.B.

Other Provinces Look To It for Leadership—Sask. Has Lowest T.B. Death Rate in the Dominion

From Colonel Ibbotson Leonard, D.B.O., President of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association:

"The outstanding success achieved by your League in the battle against tuberculosis, and the fact that the death rate in your province is the lowest in the British Empire, is an example to sister associations in the other provinces."

This is but one of scores of messages received from all over Canada from leaders in the fight against tuberculosis congratulating the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League on its record since the first sanatorium opened its doors twenty years ago on October 8, 1917, to be exact.

Among the birthday greetings warm congratulations were received from various provinces. Space permits reproduction of only the most important messages:

From John McEachern, Chairman, Sanatorium Board of Manitoba: "We wish to extend to your sanatorium warm congratulations upon your twentieth anniversary and the splendid result achieved. We especially pay tribute to the Saskatchewan system of free treatment resulting in the cleanest bill of health for tuberculosis in any province."

From Dr. A. E. Miller, of the Kenilworth Sanatorium, Nova Scotia: "Through the tireless efforts of the League in Saskatchewan has attained the lowest death rate from tuberculosis in Canada. Your method of treatment is a model for all countries in America to follow. We predict that in the next decade tuberculosis will be a minor cause of death among the white population of your province."

From Dr. P. A. Greenman, of the Prince Edward Island Tuberculosis League, P.E.I.: "Our congratulations on the magnificent success that has been attained in Saskatchewan since your organization began to function. We watch very closely its operation and closely frequently what an outstanding example it is and what can be done along recognized principles in the controlling of this disease."

From Dr. W. H. Hatfield, Provincial Medical Director of Tuberculosis Control, Vancouver, B.C.:

"You have done a marvelous piece of work in Saskatchewan, and I trust that some day the whole of Canada may be able to demonstrate its progress as that shown in Saskatchewan."

Much of the credit for this remarkable record is due to the educational and preventive work of the League, which is financed largely by the sale of Christmas Seals.

Everyone can help by buying Christmas Seals

Through continuous educational efforts the people of Saskatchewan now realize that tuberculosis is 80 per cent. curable if discovered and treated in its early stages. Periodic clinics at eleven centres, and travelling clinics, financed from Christmas Seal sales, provide facilities for early diagnosis, thus reducing the number of advanced cases admitted to the sanatoria, shortening their period of treatment and suffering and reducing the cost to the taxpayers generally.

But, despite Saskatchewan's splendid record, tuberculosis still provides one of the most serious disease problems we have to face. Every third death in the age period between 15 and 45 years from cause infectious disease is due to tuberculosis. There must be no let-up in the fight against tuberculosis in Saskatchewan!

Everyone can help to stamp out tuberculosis by buying Christmas Seals. A facsimile of this year's seal is reproduced herewith. When the opportunity to purchase a supply of seals is given you remember that your contribution, however small, is urgently needed to assist in still further reducing the mortality from this preventable disease.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
NOVEMBER 14
THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER

Golden text: Neglect not the gift that is in thee. 1 Timothy 4:14. Lesson: 1 Timothy, Chapter 4; 2 Timothy, 2:1-13. Devotional reading: Acts 20:31-35.

Explanations And Comments
Warning Against False Doctrine, 1 Timothy 4:1-5.

A Good Minister of Christ Jesus, 1 Timothy 4:6-16. Paul exhorts Timothy to keep the brethren in mind of these things, "these things" referring to the false asceticism (refraining from marriage and abstaining from certain foods) against which he has warned them in the first five verses of this chapter. "The counsels here become exceedingly personal. Timothy is a delegate from Paul; first and foremost he is a minister from Jesus Christ. As a good minister of Christ, he is to keep reminding the brethren of the things of Christ; he will hold Christian ideals before them constantly. The amount of repeating, of saying the same thing over and over again from some new source, of making a tired truth before his hearers, of making a proper time exposure, is an essential part of the good minister's equipment; it is to be most earnestly coveted and sought after. To this end Timothy is admonished to nourish his soul with the truth that keeps fresh and strong; let him look carefully after his own life; let him diligently continue in that wholesome backing to which he has been so loyal and let him avoid discussions which often are as foolish and worthless as the tale a grandmother tells the children in the words of the faith, and of the good doctrine."

A good minister of Christ Jesus, nourished in the words of the faith, and of the good doctrine, "If Christ is pre-eminent, a minister of Christ must be pre-eminent. I am even tempted to think, sometimes, that too much time is wasted in the study of the fundamentals of Christian truth. Some men are always trying to prove there is a God to people who need a serious doubt on the subject. There are not many atheists in our congregations. They are very often with their arrogant presence. Why waste time trying to convince the absentees? Let us not to preach as sociologists or psychologists or theologians or even as apologetes, but as preachers. We are to rejoice in the privilege, not of proving, but of proclaiming God" (Malcolm James MacLeod).

"We too often assume that professing the Christian life or belonging to a church constitutes the extent of our Christian obligation. Paul made clear to Timothy that we should definitely train to be experts in Christian living; that we should set ourselves increasingly to know the way of Christ, and then practice the new application of his spirit until it becomes a daily habit." (Albert W. Weaver)

The Scots Greys
Soldiers Of Famous Regiment Will Continue To Ride Horses

Soldiers of the famous regiment of the Royal Scots Greys will continue to ride their horses. In the House of Commons War Secretary Leslie Hore-Blaisdel exploded rumors that the unit would be mechanized. Scottish Conservative members and many others were prepared to launch a spirited attack if the minister's answer upheld the rumor.

The Times published a letter from W. P. Collins, colonel of the regiment, through practically the whole of the Great War. It declared there was no lack of recruits for the Scots Greys but there probably would be if they were mechanized. He trusted the Royal Scots Greys and their grey horses may be for ever retained.

The Germans are supposed to have learned of the presence of the Scots Greys at Liege, Belgium, early in the Great War, when they recognized the regiment's grey horses.

Plenty Of Results
"Results!" exclaimed Edison to an assistant nervously at the bewildering total of his failures—50,000 experiments, for example, before he succeeded with a new storage battery. "Results? Why, man I have gotten a lot of results. I know several thousands of things that won't work."

The city of Chicago has a greater population than the entire state of Wisconsin.

Some of this new millinery looks as if it had made a forced landing.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST by DR. J. W. S. MCCULLOUGH

ARTICLE NO. 17
"Cancerphobia"

Cancerphobia means fear of cancer. This fear is present to some degree in every adult person; it is particularly evident among women. Everything possible should be done to moderate this fear. When the writer began his campaign of lecturing about cancer some years ago, he happened to meet on a railway train a medical friend of college days, Horace Blank, a genial, capable, bonair, immaculate and clever. He was at the time, and had been for many years, the head of a hospital clinic in a special line; his opinion in most matters of medical thought was valuable.

He said to me, "Where are you bound for, old chap?" "I'm going to B—." "I replied, to lecture to a group of women about cancer." "Don't you do it!" he exclaimed. "You'll scare the life out of them. You'll give them cancerphobia."

I rather demurred at this suggestion but I had no real argument whereby to counter my friend's emphatic advice. I pondered with some uneasiness about the matter.

At the close of the lecture which was listened to with great interest by an audience of some 250 bright and intelligent women, I tried an experiment with them, one which has since been repeated scores of times. I told the audience of the warning I had received. "Now," I said, "I should like to ask you, if, after hearing what I have had to say about cancer, is your fear of it increased?"

There was a unanimous dissent to anything of the kind. The women gathered about me asked all manner of pertinent questions about cancer and evinced the strongest desire to learn, in the shortest possible time, all the information they could. Neither on this occasion nor on many others of a similar nature, has there been the slightest indication that a truthful statement of the facts about cancer, induced cancerphobia.

The facts about cancer are reassuring in that they offer high hope to the victim if he or she has been taken in hand at an early stage of the disease. Widespread knowledge about cancer is the surest avenue to this happy condition of things.

New Style Horse Collar
Contains Special Rubber Tube That Makes It Flexible

Some one interested in animal welfare recently has devised a collar for horses that will not scuff nor chafe their necks. In appearance it is like the conventional collar, but contains a special rubber tube that is inflated with air at about five pounds pressure. This renders the collar so flexible that it is asserted a hand can be slipped between it and the horse's shoulder even when a full load is being pulled, reports The Compressed Air Magazine.

The Only Safety

CARRY YOUR ALKALIZER WITH YOU

IF OVER-EATING CAUSES ACID INDIGESTION—
—HERE'S THE SENSIBLE THING TO DO

The fastest way to "alkalize" is to carry your alkalizer with you. That's what thousands do now that genuine Phillip's comes in tiny, peppermint flavored tablets—in a flat tin for pocket or purse. Then you are always ready.

Use it this way. Take 2 Phillip's tablets—equal in "alkalizing" effect to 2 teaspoonsful of liquid Phillip's from the bottle. At once you feel "gas," nausea, "over-crowding" from hyper-acidity begin to ease. "Acid headaches," "acid breath," over-acid stomach are corrected at the source. This is the quick way to ease your own distress—avoid offense to others.

WHAT HO!

—By—
RICHARD CONNELL
By Arrangement With Thomas Allen, Publisher, Toronto.

CHAPTER I—Continued

He had adopted "Noblesse Oblige" as his own private motto; but being a Bingley, and living up to it, were not always easy in Bear Falls. There were times, and this was one of them, when he felt an exigent desire to rally forth with a baseball bat, in lieu of a battle-axe, and play requiems on the skulls of his tormentors, beginning with the large, polished skull of Otis G. Wyncoop.

However, the Wyncoopian skull, and the other skulls were unmoisted that night, for Ernest counted ten, and decided to spend his steam on the less sanguine project of arranging his exhibit of birds and beasts for the state fair.

On this labor of love he had toiled, intently, for some four years. In natural tendency and realistic poses, he had arranged family groups of robins, orioles, quail, sparrows, muskrats, chipmunks, coons, coyotes, rabbits, gophers, wild cats, hawks, crows, badgers, cat-birds, kingfishers, skunks, swallows, otters, and other feathery and furry denizens of Iowa. Mr. Sticum, dropping in now and then from his booties, had pointed out that the commercial value of this undertaking was highly doubtful, since, as Mr. Sticum put it, the number of folks in Iowa with a craving for a household of varmints could be counted on the thumb of an earl. Nevertheless, Ernest worked on. He finished the final feather on the last snipe the day before the fair opened.

CHAPTER II.

As Ernest was the sort of man who gets around in a corset, and who in restaurants is always given a seat which commands a view of the kitchen, he found himself, and his exhibit, tucked away in an obscure corner of the exhibition hall, almost completely hidden from view by the Grundy Center Grange's display of elephantine pumpkins and maudlin cheeses.

However, a fellow-townsmen had fared better when the spaces were allotted. Mr. Otis G. Wyncoop, with masterful bellow, had demanded and received the most conspicuous spot in the centre of the great hall. Here a corps of workmen had set up the exhibit of Wyncoop's Wonder Yeenies, conceived and designed by Mrs. Wyncoop, personally.

"I intend to give it," stated Mrs. Wyncoop, while in the throes of creation, a "touch of whinny."

"Oke," said her husband, "only don't forget to feature the product. I'm selling sausages, not whinnies." "I am aware of that," said Mrs. Wyncoop. "The sausages will not be lighted, I assure you. Now, may I have carte blanche?"

"If you need her, get her," assented Mr. Wyncoop. "Class is what I'm after. I'm a class concern."

"Class you shall have," promised Mrs. Wyncoop. "Class is what I'm after. I'm a class concern." "Class you shall have," promised Mrs. Wyncoop. "Class is what I'm after. I'm a class concern."

"Spurge away," directed Mrs. Wyncoop. "I won't kick at the bills if we win the prize. The bill will be worth thousands to me. Why, I could tie a little red ribbon around each individual weenie and jack up the price."

So Mrs. Wyncoop's fancies took concrete form, and the result was a formal grotto, festooned with a profusion of roses each with a tiny electric light in its artificial bosom. In this colorful bower stood the good horse Tartar, caparisoned now with a saddle and bridle of snow-white leather embellished with rhinestones. Enthroned on Tartar sat a shapely young lady whose somewhat crotchety costume of gauze was supplemented by a cascade of blonde hair which rippled to her waist. She smiled benignly at the crowd and chewed gum when Mrs. Wyncoop was not watching. Mr. Wyncoop assumed that her name was Blanche, and thus, to her surprise, addressed her. Just who this nymph was supposed to be was a moot point among those who thronged around the spectacle. Some opined she was Lady Godiva, others maintained she was Joan of Arc, and others held that she was either the Spirit of the Middle West, or Miss Bear Falls. She carried a silken banner which bore the device, in gold on purple, "The Weenies That Won The West." Lest there be any lingering doubt as to which weenie merited that distinction, above the whole exhibit a vast sign flashed forth, first in pink, then in amber lights, the word "Wyncoop."

True to her promise, Mrs. Wyncoop had not neglected the less fanciful and more educational side of sausage making. Beside the rosy grove was a tiled compartment which had the antiseptic air of an operating room. Here eight pretty girls in white uniforms which made them look like a squad of lady husars, tended a large machine of gleaming nickel. From its maw, at intervals, emerged the tid-bit that had made Mr. Wyncoop rich and famous. As the new-born weenies came out of the everywhere into the here, they were promptly collared by an efficient young husar and popped onto an electric grill. There they sizzled until another husar, armed with toothpicks, impaled them and presented them to passersby, and, since they were free, the passersby were numerous.

About this exhibit proudly hovered Mr. Wyncoop, who in face and figure looked like a large-scale caricature of one of his own products. However the report that a near-sighted agriculturist from Coon Rapids had attempted to put mustard on Mr. Wyncoop's nose may be set down as a canard started by a jealous competitor. Mr. Wyncoop could be distinguished from his creations by the fact that he wore a tuxedo suit and had a bass voice.

With him, her slightly bedewed brow ready for the laurel wreath, was his wife, Armina, who wore, among other things, her Chicago shoes and her milk coat. The day was mild to the point of downright balminess, but Mrs. Wyncoop wore this furry mark of caste almost as constantly as its original owners. The weather and the wrap conspired to make Mrs. Wyncoop wilt damply, but she stuck to her coat, and vice versa, a martyr to a good cause. One of the three judges who were presently pass on the exhibits was no less a personage than Mrs. Clara Martha Phelps, active president of a score clubs, past president and founder of two others, and a member of a score more, to whom, socially, Mrs. Wyncoop was as an ant-hill to an alp. In her mansion in Des Moines, Mrs. Phelps conducted a celebrated salon at which worthy causes were espoused, evanisms and yogis expounded their esoteric philosophies, and papers were read on the Lake Poets, Bach and penology. To sit in this select circle and inhale lungfuls of culture was Mrs. Wyncoop's most ardent ambition. So she wore her milk coat, as a badge and a symbol. Mrs. Phelps had one, and Mrs. Wyncoop cherished the hope that Mrs. Phelps would sense that they were sisters under the skin.

Frisking in the shadow of his parents was their son and heir, Master Mervin Wyncoop, in the electric blue and cerise uniform of a brigadier general in the Bear Falls Military Academy, "a he-school for manly boys." Master Mervin, looking like a junior weenie, was tickling strangers with a feather-duster, bought for that express purpose, and was planning to ruffle the composure of the young lady on the horse as soon as a suitable opportunity presented itself. To keep in training for this enterprise, Master Mervin, every minute or so, snatched with nimble, chubby hands one of the sausages sputtering on the grill, and bolted it whole, displaying a pelican-like capacity astonishing in one of his tender years. The young bright boy's button on his uniform tugged at their moorings, and he began to bulge, visibly, in all directions. Still he continued to stoke himself with sausages, while Wyncoop senior beamed his approval. Just as the roomy Mervin threatened either to contradict all the known laws of physics, or explode, the committee of judges, in solemn procession, approached the Wyncoop exhibit.

Mrs. Clara-Martha Phelps, as befitting her rank, came first, followed by a lean Congressman and a fat Mayor. Mrs. Phelps was a giraffe-shaped lady, two ladies tall, and one lady wide.

Number Of Alberta Patients Not Out Of Line With Normal Rate In Canada

Rate of increase in the number of patients in Alberta institutions is not "out of line" with the normal rate across Canada, a provincial health department official said at Edmonton.

Commenting on the statement of Capt. Cecil Bull (M.B., South Okanagan) in the British Columbia legislature at Victoria that people were being taken at the rate of three a week to asylums from the "Alberta drouth area," he stated:

"We have not segregated the patients and therefore cannot say what numbers are being received from particular districts."

"At the Ponoka institution we admit an average of 600 patients a year and let out about 450, leaving the increase at approximately 150, which is about the average rate for Canada."

The name "tin cans" is derived from the term, tin canisters, by which they were known in England during the latter part of the 19th century.

Insist on AIR CELL THE GUARANTEED RADIO "A" BATTERY

● Thanks to modern science, the old nuisance of recharging "A" batteries has been ended forever. Eveready AIR CELL, the best source of "A" power for radio sets, never needs to be recharged. It renews its power from the air, day in and day out.

Install an Eveready Air Cell in your radio—and forget about "A" power for 1,000 playing hours! All you need to do is to add a little ordinary water every few months. Think of the trouble you save yourself—to say nothing of the money!

Remember this, too, about Air Cell. It maintains its full power to the end. No periods of fading power which spoil reception.

Eveready Air Cell is not an experiment. It has proved its worth for seven years—in every type of Air Cell receiver. Don't waste money on fads and experiments which you hope will work! You can count on Air Cell—it's guaranteed for a minimum of 1,000 playing hours!

Little Helps For This Week

Be of good courage and He shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord. Psalm 31:24.

In heavenly love abiding. No change my heart shall fear; And safe is such confiding. For nothing changes here.

A true Christian that has power over his own will may live nobly and happily and enjoy a clear heaven within the serenity of his own mind perpetually. When the sea of this world is most rough and tempestuous about him, then can he ride safely within the haven by a compliance of his will with God's will. He who has the mastery over his own will feels no violence from without, finds no contests within; and when God calls him out of this world he finds in himself the power to lay down his own life, neither is it so much taken from him as it is quietly and freely surrendered up by him to God who gave it.

They were unpacking their goods for a week-end's camping.

"George!" thundered the massive wife as she came upon an unopened bottle of whisky, "what's the meaning of this?"

"That's all right, my dear. I brought it along to stick a candle in when it's empty."

Apples growing on neighboring trees were baked by the intense heat of the flames during a sawmill fire at Durley, South Hants, England, in 1930.

Blessed are the nobodies. The calamities that befall great nations are brought about only by great men.

Bandit Is Killed

Italy's Public Enemy No. 1 Is Shot By A Shepherd

Italy's public enemy No. 1, Domenico Diana, accused of 10 murders during the past five months, was killed by a shepherd armed only with a small pocket knife.

After a hand to hand tussle, the shepherd killed the bandit, who had eluded a nation-wide search during the past few months.

Some time ago the bandit was convicted of participating in a hold-up. He swore to murder every witness at the trial and when released from prison five months ago proceeded to carry out the threat.

The star Arcturus is 11,000,000 times farther away from the earth than the sun.

Action Well Advised

Fort William Board Of Health Bans Auto Horn Tooting

The Fort Arthur News-Chronicle reports that the Fort William Board of Health is taking action to stop the nuisance of auto horn tooting and says it is well advised. Auto horns are tooted too often and too long. Autos should, as a rule, be seen and not heard. The best drivers scarcely ever use the horn. They drive where the road is open, and when necessary, use the brakes. They don't go around the streets blowing their horns to warn every one else to keep out of the way.

Gold hoardings in India are such that no one can accurately estimate the amount; the common estimates, however, set it at above $5,000,000,000.

Isn't it extreme blasphemy on the part of Dean Aberhart to, immediately after asking God's guidance of his service, to turn right around and refer to The People's League in other than proper terms.

An exchange remarks: "Money has been leaving Alberta, men and women have been leaving Alberta, and now the babies are leaving Alberta. Premier Aberhart better muzzle the babies, or there will not be any Social Credit bank employees twenty years hence.

A year ago last Saturday the mercury in the Crows' Nest Pass registered around 35 below zero, while at Lethbridge it was 20. Highways throughout the southern part of the province were blocked with snow. On Nov. 6 this year we had neither frost nor snow.

The idea of Hallowe'en may get decidedly fixed on the minds of young children. A certain two-year-old had been learning The Lord's Prayer, and was overheard repeating the opening lines, as follows: "Our Father who are in Heaven, Hallowe'en by their name."

People in our neighboring provinces are feeling so sure that Aberhart will kill the province of Alberta outright, that they are already looking to Alberta for souvenirs, particularly in the form of babies. They don't want to deal with those grown-ups of the thirteen-year-old mental.

J. Ramsey MacDonald, former Labor prime minister of Great Britain, died suddenly at sea Monday night on the liner Reina del Pacifico, while en route to South America in search of health. The body will be brought back to England for burial. He was being accompanied by his daughter Sheila on what he termed the only care-free holiday trip of his life. Mr. MacDonald was in his 71st year.

A prominent feature of the October 25th issue of "Life" is descriptive reference to Lord Tweedsmuir's recent trip into the great Northwest. A staff photographer of that publication, Margaret Bourke-White, accompanied the governor-general's tour of the northwest, and told the story in a series of most interesting pictures, reproduced in "Life." A quotation from "Life" reads: "Of all Lord Tweedsmuir's trips, none was more dramatic than his 10,000-mile expedition of last July and August across the Northwest Territories. If he is the first Canadian governor-general to make so extensive a voyage into an area almost unknown, it is because he is a most unusual governor-general for Canada to have."

Mr. T. Kurtichanov, principal of the Flathead County high school at Kalispel, Montana, a special speaker at the convention of East Kootenay teachers at Fernie, chose as his subject "Educational Problems." In stating the aims of education, Mr. Kurtichanov used the following Ruskin quotation: "Manhood, not scholarship, is the aim of education. Education does not mean teaching men what they do not know. It means teaching them to behave as they do not behave. It does not mean teaching the youth the shapes of letters and the tricks of numbers, and then leave them to turn their arithmetic to rogues and their literature to lust. It means, on the contrary, training them into the perfect exercise and kingly continence of their bodies and souls. It is a painful, continual and difficult work to be done by kindness, by watching, by warning, by precept, by praise; but above all, by example."

Getting to a low ebb now when a large portion of the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute decide to organize an opposition congregation because Aberhart is mixing far too much politics with what should be religion. In future, the ubers will likely have to make two appeals during a service instead of one, so that the big guy might continue to hear himself talk.

Mrs. J. H. Farmer recently received word of the death on October 28th, of her brother, Oliver William Rhynas, aged 60, at Burlington, Ontario, founder of the firm of O. W. Rhynas & Son. He is survived by his mother, Catharine Ker Rhynas, Gooderich, Ontario; his wife, Margaret Ferguson Rhynas, and only son Phil; also brother and two sisters, Melville G. Rhynas, Pincher Creek; Mrs. Thomas Mitchell, Gooderich, and Mrs. Farmer.

The editor of The Enterprise received word Monday morning of the death of his mother, Mrs. E. A. Bartlett, at Petrie's, Newfoundland, at the ripe age of 85. Her husband, Police Inspector Bartlett, predeceased her seven years ago, while her youngest son, Wilfred, was killed in an auto accident near Chatham, Ontario, in June last. She is survived by four sons, Allan and Charles in Newfoundland, Robert B. in Detroit, and Walter J. in Blaimore; also one daughter, Annie (Mrs. John A. Petrie), of Bishop's Falls, Newfoundland.

The passing at Winnipeg of Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) brings to mind that the famous author during his early career had an intimate connection with the Crows' Nest Pass district, both in western Alberta and eastern British Columbia. After the completion of the railway, he visited this part of the country on several occasions, and as a matter of fact it was here he got the inspiration and gathered the material for some of his best books. It is generally conceded that his prototype for "The Sky Pilot" was none other than Rev. Hugh Grant, one of the early ministers at Fernie, and it has been hinted that Dr. J. H. King (now Senator King) was in mind when he wrote "The Doctor of the Crows' Nest." His first visit to Cranbrook was in September, 1898, when he held service in the Bank of Commerce building, which is now W. H. Wilson's store. His next visit was on January 7th, 1906, when he preached at the dedication of the newly erected Knox Presbyterian church—Cranbrook Courier.

Mr. Jensen, representing the provincial sales tax department, was in town from Lethbridge the early part of the week.

Ye editor has been "at home" for about two weeks, having as house guest a mild form of rheumatism. We had several opportunities of squirming our face Aberhartlike.

Looks like a bluff, also! In the course of a prayer in the Bible Institute, Dean Aberhart invoked blessings on the governor-general, the lieutenant-governor and Premier Mackenzie King. Does anyone really believe that down in Aberhart's heart he meant just that?

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Valeria Jean Houbrega, who died Nov. 11th, 1936. No one knows how much we miss you. No one knows the bitter pain We have suffered. Since we lost you Life has never been the same.
